Acceptable uses
You may use 1Forge data for any project, commercial or non-commercial, as long as you don't resell or redistribute our data in it's raw format.

Unacceptable uses
The only restriction we place on our data is that you may not resell or redistribute it in it's raw format. In other words, please don't try to resell our data and compete with us; any other lawful use is fine.

Frequently asked questions about data usage
Can I use 1Forge quotes on my website, desktop application, mobile app, or other project?: YES
Can I redistribute my project, which uses 1Forge data, to unlimited users?: YES
Can I use 1Forge data in my commercial project?: YES
Can I use 1Forge data to create new data (eg: trade alerts, market sentiment, etc…) and redistribute that data?: YES
Can I resell your raw API feed? NO

Support
1Forge is committed to providing timely customer support for all clients, and will respond to support tickets as fast as reasonably possible with paying customers receiving priority over free customers.

Integration
1Forge provides some open-source libraries to assist with integration. If you need custom integration, please contact us - we are committed to helping you get up and running!

Maintenance
1Forge will make its best effort to avoid performing any maintenance while the Forex market is open in order to reduce downtime. Most maintenance will be performed on Saturday or Sunday. Emergency maintenance may be performed during the week. If you are using a WebSocket connection, it's vital that your application automatically tries to reconnect when a disconnection happens.

Downtime Compensation
In the extremely rare event that there is any downtime, paying customers may be credited by opening a support ticket or contacting us at contact@1forge.com. Compensation is at the sole discretion of 1Forge.

This license agreement may change at any time without notification. If you have any questions about our license agreement, please email contact@1forge.com